Q: Mouse is not staying in hover I'm trying to change the cursor while mouse is hovering over some element (for example span), but I couldn't. Take a look at the example and try to move mouse slowly over the element. I noticed that when you click outside the element it becomes normal cursor again. Also, it's not important for me if you cannot simulate the mouse with the arrow keys (in the example), but anyway, I tried it with the arrow keys and it's not working. *{ margin: 0; padding: 0; -webkit-box-sizing: border-box; border-box: -moz-box-sizing: border-box; box-sizing: border-box; } body{ background-color: #cfe1c9; overflow-x: hidden; max-width: 100%; font-family: PESANT; } h1{ color: #333; font-family: RALBUN; } h2{ color: #aaa; } p{ font-family: RALBUN; font-weight: normal; font-size: 18px; } a{ text

Finally, it's time. The year that I plan to put full time focus into the blog. Expect more frequent posts, and many upcoming posts as I sort out some items. Recently, I announced my move to Washington DC. I've been living a dream for 2 years now (literally), and even though I don't expect to leave any time soon, it's time that I make my dream of a publisher and writer really happen. I'm going to need a lot of help, so if you're a writer or journalist, please consider helping. Also, I decided to do something very special: For the first time ever, I will be posting a guest post every month. Someone who has used my teachings, or listened to my lessons. These posts will include such topics as: tips for new writers, advice for the short story writer, I will most certainly be posting content from the many authors that I am still in contact with. And one other thing: I am going to be interviewing/asking questions to the many writers I know and respect. The writers will vary, but some will be published, others, just starting out. The common theme: helping to bring guidance to the writers, and teaching them what I've learned about the craft. I am hoping that many of the writers will offer answers, and offer advice as well. So in all of that, I decided to do something special for you. A little something to thank those who have read the blog and made it a part of their lives. I understand you may not have liked it, but it's ok. It's time for me to put down my pen, and work on projects that will really help aspiring writers. But just remember that if you didn't like it, it's ok
